Applicant: got history, inc.

Country: United States

Applying for: Associated Membership

Aims of the organization: To unlock the power of history for the advancement of wellbeing for individuals, society and the planet. We weave local collaborative teams and incubate youth action to change the system so that all young people get the history education they need to lead in today's world.

Our goals are to ensure that every young person gets the history they need to thrive as an inspired, engaged, informed and empathetic member of their local, national and global community.

Motivation: We are a non-profit, not a membership organization, but see our role as a systems-change catalyst in the field of history and social studies education. We have been weaving a community of intent, including teachers and museum educators from across America who share a commitment to human rights, equality, justice, freedom and the system of democracy. We are aware of the fact that weaving a global community of human beings who share respect and empathy for one another, and who work together to ensure the wellbeing of all in harmony with the planet is a global endeavor. Therefore, we are eager to weave connections with similar-minded people and institutions around the world--joining EuroClio would be an honor and we would strive to bring our full selves into the partnership. In addition, our founder, Fernande Raine, is German and learned her history in Europe. Her affinity to the story behind EuroClio runs deep, as she selected history as a course of study in 1990 in order to use it as an instrument to strengthen democracy. That passion for using history to build a better world is what fuels our work in America and what ties us to the work you do.
